

Have your say: Bus stop on York Street, Sydney

Additional bus stop for bus route 389

March 2026

The NSW Government is committed to ensuring bus services continue to meet the needs of the community.

Transport for NSW (Transport) are seeking feedback on a proposed bus stop on York Street, Sydney.

In December 2021 the City of Sydney introduced the King Street cycleway which as a result lead to changes on bus route 389. This bus route operates from Pyrmont to Bondi Junction via the Sydney CBD.

Prior to 2021, the first bus stop in the Sydney CBD for services coming from Pyrmont was on King Street near York Street. Currently the first city stop for services coming from Pyrmont is at Sussex Street after King Street. To allow for better customer access to central CBD destinations, a new stop is proposed for route 389 on York Street after King Street.

Have your say?

Transport is seeking feedback on a proposal to introduce a new bus stop at 32 York Street, Sydney opposite the Grace Hotel, that would be used by bus route 389.

Existing bus stops on York Street are currently operating at capacity meaning route 389 cannot be accommodated within the existing bus zones without causing significant impacts to the bus services and traffic flow along York Street.

What is being proposed?

- Eight metres of 'No Parking' will be removed and replaced with 30 metres of 'Bus Zone'.
- Existing 'No Parking – coaches excepted 15 minute time limit' will be relocated 22 metres south.

- 22 metres of 'Loading Zone and four hour parking' will be removed.
- Changes to coach parking.

What are the benefits?

- Passengers on bus route 389 would be able to board and alight at a bus stop on York Street.

How to have your say?
